POINTING DEVICE. Fulcrum's Trackball Plus, featuring trackball-pointing technology, is a versatile and easy-to-use alternative to—and requires less desk space and less frequent cleaning than—the mouse. Ball motion is detected optically and transformed to one of many formats by a local microprocessor before being sent to the host. The pointing device is easily interfaced to IBM compatibles with a standard RS-232 serial port, and offers an ALTERNATE CURSOR switch for CAD/CAM applications.

Trackball Plus emulates Microsoft Mouse and Mouse Systems Mouse, and comes with software drivers for both. It also emulates 8 popular pointing devices, and several digitizers. It supports a dozen commonly used programs—including Lotus 1-2-3, dBASE III Plus, MS-DOS, and WordPerfect—and offers "Point-n-Shoot Pop-Up" menus, which make it unnecessary for users to memorize the extensive codes that accompany software. The pointing device's MENUKEY provides arrow-key emulation for programs that don't normally accept pointing devices.

The Trackball Plus, complete with a comprehensive user's manual and an extended 6-month warranty, has a retail price of $99.00.—Fulcrum Computer Products, 459 Allan Court, Healdsburg, CA 95448.

MULTI-SPEED TURNTABLE. For collectors of "antique" phonograph records, Esoteric Sound's

Vintage phonographic-disc player features a variety of speeds, providing convenient listening at the correct pitch. Because many so-called "78's" were actually recorded at other speeds, the 6-speed turntable plays at 71.29 rpm (the speed of the original Berliner Gramophone record), 76.59 rpm (many acoustic Victors), 78.26 rpm (modern 78's), and 80 rpm (Edison, vertical Pathe, and acoustic Columbia and Okeh, most vertical). The modern, high-fidelity turntable also offers 33 and 45 rpm for today's recordings. An optional accessory adapts the unit for vertical play, and Stanton pickup features 2 separate styli, one for LP's and one for 78's.
